

Letter from the Head

Dear Parents/Carers,

I hope you are all well.

First up, a huge well done to the Rugby players from last week. We were late entrants into the Crofty Tournament - but managed to finish joint first with Treloweth School. This means we will progress onto the next stage of the competition, taking on schools from all over the West of Cornwall. I will keep you posted on how they get on. I must acknowledge Redruth Rugby club, who have done an awesome job in shaping this age group of boys - from across all the schools. It was a genuine pleasure to see them all having fun, competing and of course being great sportsmen. The PE teachers who were present (myself included) could take little credit for this one, it was all down to the boys and their Rugby coaches out of school.

Parent code of conduct. There is a new Parent Code of Conduct policy on the school website, should you wish to have a read of it. One part that really stuck out for me was the increasing use of AI. Lots of schools, including ourselves, are receiving correspondence from parents that has clearly been AI generated. Whilst there are benefits to using AI to compose emails and letters, I would really encourage you to steer away from this. One of the reasons being, is that it sometimes makes quite a simple request into a very over complicated and confusing one. I would much rather speak to you face to face and hear your voice, rather than one that has been generated.

Other news: Teachers are busy writing your child's end of year school report and we look forward to handing them out at the end of this half term. Every year when I proofread them, it fills me an enormous sense of pride. Proud of the children for their amazing hard work and resilience, their attitude towards learning and life. And so proud of the staff too - as it is so clear how much love they have for the children. Whilst reading nearly 200 reports (correcting the odd spelling mistake and making the odd one myself) may sound quite a boring task - I really enjoy it. We have such a bunch of little characters here and it reminds me of just how lucky I am.

Finally. If there are any parents / carers out there who own their own companies, or work for a company that may be able to sponsor kits, please let me know. Off on a KS2 football tournament now - so will update you how they got on next week.

Kind regards

Kieran Walsh
